On Sick Headache,

Nervous Headache,

Neuralgia,

Nervousness and Sleeplessness.

THEIR CAUSE AND CURE.

BY C. W. BENSON, M. D.

Headaches of all kinds are nervous, whether called sick, nervous or concentrational headache, and depend upon one cause—nervous depravity or poverty. When the patient is very nervous, it is called Nervous Headache when dyspepsia it is termed Sick Headache, when bilious it is termed Bilious Headache, and so on. Excitement, over exertion, hot sun or bright light are all exciting causes of headache, but the result is a crisis in the nervous system itself. Only those whose nervous system is in a depraved condition suffer while all others whose nervous system is in a normal state although exposed to the same exciting causes, escape. Now, why do my Pills cure these diseases? Simply because they act directly upon the digestive organs and the nervous system they are nerve food and soon put the nervous system into a normal state and thereby remove the cause of these and all other nervous diseases. Their effect is upon the fountain head, and their cure is permanent. They can no more fail to nourish the nervous system than bread and meat can the general system. Therefore cures as certain when they are properly used. They are no purgative but relieve constipation by curing indigestion, the cause of it.

Celery has only come into public notice in the last few years as a nervine. But scientific experiments and experience have proved beyond a doubt that it controls nervous irritation and prevents nervous and sick headache to a marked degree.

But a combination of the EXTRACT OF CELERY AND CHAMOMILE, which has been but recently introduced to the profession and the public by myself, has produced such marvellous results in curing nervousness and headaches and especially nervous and sick headaches, neuralgia and sleeplessness, that it has created a public excitement and newspaper comments, and I therefore I give the following information to the public to avoid answering hundreds of letters of inquiry about them.

My Pills for the cure of headaches and nervous debility, prepared under my supervision in the best manner possible, are the result of my study, skill and research in nervousness and will cure in any case where no organic disease of the brain or spinal cord exists. Hundreds of cases of many years standing have been cured. No matter how chronic or of what kind the case may be, a permanent cure is morally certain. This statement is made after years of experience in their use in the general practice of medicine.

These pills are also valuable for school children who suffer from nervous headache caused by an overworked brain in their studies, and of all classes of hard brainworkers, whose overwrought nervous centres need repair and action. Nervous tremor, weakness and paralysis are being daily cured by these pills. They correct costiveness but are not purgative.

Directions on each box. Price 50 cents or six boxes for $2.50, postage free to any address, or may be ordered through any druggist. No order will be filled unless accompanied by the money, or letter answered if it does not contain a 3 cent stamp. Depot No. 106 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md. # Cuticura

BLOOD AND SKIN HUMORS.

CUTICURA REMEDIES for the Treatment of Blood and Skin and Scalp Humors. When of Scrofulous, Cancerous, or Syphilitic origin, the Cuticura Resolvent is the principal remedy, and it alone or at the same time Ulcers, Sores or other External Affections then the Cuticura assisted by the Cuticura Soap, must be used externally. If the disease is of the skin and scalp, the principal remedy will then be the Cuticura, with the Cuticura Soap, and such use of the Resolvent as is suggested by the following conditions. In all Skin and Scalp Diseases, when the skin is hot and dry the blood feverish, the liver torpid, the bowels constipated, or when the virus of Scrofula or poison of Mercury is known to lurk in the system, or when the Constitution has been shattered by Malarial and Anti Periodic Fevers and Debilitating Diseases, always take the Resolvent, which is among the Cuticura. A cure in this mode will be permanent and satisfactory.

ECZEMA RODENT.

The Cuticura Remedies succeed where a Commission of Physicians fails.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Gentlemen:—I have suffered over thirteen years with skin diseases in my hands and limbs causing constant irritation depriving me of rest and attention to business. I sought many remedies here and elsewhere also use of sulphur baths, without permanent cure.

Last May I applied to a physician called my disease Eczema Rodent,—spots appeared on my hands, head and face, eyes became sore, and limbs and granular ulcers arose, at length impairing my sight.

Internal and external remedies were prescribed by the doctor, physician for six months was then introduced to another physician who had been called in consultation with previous physicians and had been a favorite plan which resulted in Left Leg no longer.

After following advice for four months without any permanent cure I bought two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, two boxes of Cuticura, and Cuticura Soap, and in three weeks time and by the use of less than one bottle of Resolvent, my face and head and some parts of my body were entirely cured. My hands were covered with scabs an inch and my suffering was fearful.

In a little over a year I had heard of in the east and West. My case is considered a very bad one. One very skilful physician said he would rather not treat it, and some of them think now I am only cured temporarily. I think not for I have had much of Salt Rheum since time and my cure has come before wonder of. My case has been the years of selling. A few many of your CUTICURA REMEDIES in the district the country. Respectfully yours

AN AWFUL RAILROAD RACE

JOHN DAVISON'S WONDERFUL FLAT ON THE BUFFALO CORRY AND PITTSBURG RAILROAD—SIXTEEN MILES IN LESS THAN TWELVE MINUTES.

By a locomotive explosion on a Western railroad a few days ago the engineer John Davison was killed. Davison was one of the oldest engineers in the country and was for several years on the Buffalo, Corry and Pittsburg Railroad where he had one of the most terrible experiences that has ever been recorded in the history of railroading. His death recalls that night of peril to every one in that part of New York State, although it has never ceased to be related in minutest detail at all gatherings of railroad men where the dangers of the footboard have been the topic.

From Mayville Summit to Brocton Junction on the Lake Shore Road the distance is 10 miles. Owing to the numerous sweeping curves on the railroad the distance by rail is [illegible] miles. The grade for that distance is nearly 80 feet to the mile. The Corry Road extends into the Pennsylvania oil regions and 10 years ago carried large quantities of petroleum. On the night of Aug. 17 1869, Davison engine was at the Summit with a train of one box car six loaded oil cars and two passenger cars. The box car was next to the locomotive and the passenger cars were at the rear of the train. The engineer had started the train, and it had attained good headway when he discovered flames issuing from one of the oil cars. He whistled down brake, and the couches were cut loose from the oil cars which were quickly uncoupled from the box car. The engineer then pulled on down the hill, to get out of the reach of the burning cars in order to save the locomotive and the other cars, in which were two valuable trotting horses and their keepers on their way to Cleveland. He supposed the brakeman would put the brakes on the oil cars, but in the excitement this was not done and they followed the locomotive, gaining headway every moment. Before the engineer had taken in the situation, the oil cars every one of them now ablaze, came dashing up on him around a curve. They crashed into the box car, knocking in one end of it but singularly enough neither it nor any of the moving cars were thrown from the track by the collision. The engineer and fireman could have escaped all danger by abandoning the locomotive, but as Davison said when asked afterward why he did not pursue that course, they had $30 000 worth of the company's property in their charge, and they were determined to save it if possible. According to the engineer's story of the incident he saw that there was to be a race for life between him with his engine, and the flaming cars under no control. He said that when the oil cars struck the one in which the horses were the poor animals actually screamed with fright. The heat was unbearable. Davison pulled the throttle valve wide open and he [illegible] ed that they flew down the 80 foot grade so fast that the engine could not [illegible]. The keepers in the car next the oil cars climbed up to the opening in the end of the car and with faces pale as death begged the engineer to give him more steam. They could see the blazing oil cars through the broken end of their car, and it seemed to them that they gained at every turn of the wheels. The engineer said that when he struck the sharp curves at the lightning speed at which he was going he expected that his engine would leave the track and be hurled down the mountain side. The night was very dark. The engine thundered along faster than any engine ever ran in this country before or since through woods and deep rock cuts in the edge of [illegible] precipices. The horses were stamping and neighing with terror in the box car and only a few feet in the rear was the flying mass of flame, rushing down the mountain like a tremendous meteor. The blaze from the thousands of gallons of burning oil was more than 60 feet in height and lighted up the woods and rocks and crooked road for miles. The whole heavens were illuminated and from Brocton the sight of the great conflagration apparently flying through the air now hidden for a second by a cut or a piece of wood and then leaping out again and up toward the sky like a huge fountain of fire is described as having been awful in its grandeur.

The idea of Engineer Davison was to call for the opening of the switch for him at Brocton Junction, so that he could run on to the Lake Shore track, where the grade was ascending and where he could soon get out of the way of the burning cars through their having lost the propelling power of the decline of the Summit grade. It happened however, that the Cincinnati express on the Lake Shore Road would be due at the junction when Davidson's engine reached there. To add to the terror of the situation, a west-bound Lake Shore freight train was at that moment running to pass the junction before the arrival of the express. There was only one thing to do, and that was to whistle for the switch, and take the chances of the freight getting out of the way and the express being dragged or late. The engineer knew that he must have been seen from Brocton Junction, by the light of the burning oil in his life or death race down the mountain, and that the railroad men there understood the peril of the situation and would be prompt to act. He whistled for open switch. He and his fireman then bade each other good bye, and awaited the result. The freight train gained the siding out of their way. The switch was opened and they tore on up the Lake Shore track, past the depot and through the village, and were soon out of the way of the burning cars. The latter gradually came to a stop. The engine and box car were stopped within a hundred yards of the Lake Shore express, which was both late and signaled. When Davison and his fireman found they were out of danger they fainted on their engine. The horses in the box car were ruined, and the keepers were taken from the car unconscious. The oil-tanks burned for three hours after they were stopped. The most fortunate circumstance of the whole affair was the uncoupling of the passenger cars from the oil cars at the Summit. They were filled with passengers, and if they had remained with the burning tanks would have been wrapped in flames in a very short time, and there would have been no escape for the passengers from a most horrible fate. It was just 9 o'clock when Davison pulled out from Mayville Summit. When he was taken from his engine, sixteen miles from the starting point, it was not yet twelve minutes past the hour.

James Keenan, Davison's fireman, was killed about three years ago. He was on his engine, when he saw a child playing on the track some distance ahead. He ran out to the pilot, and, reaching over, caught the child and tossed it to one side of the track. He lost his balance, however, and fell in front of the locomotive, and was crushed to death.

PILLSBURY RAMPANT

In the latest issue of his Standard Pillsbury lashes about him to right and left in a furious manner and winds up with the following belligerent whoop

An armed contest between the opposing political forces in Maine would be anything but a healthy one for those who are now threatening it and trying to exasperate the people to a fighting pitch. It would be a struggle between political tricksters, psalm-singing hypocrites, beardless actors, vote-buyers and dapper pretenders on the one side, and the hard-handed honest yeomanry on the other, between the patent leathers and the brogans, and the result would be neither doubtful nor long delayed.

Lo! That sounds almost as ferocious as tame Copperhead threats during the rebellion If Generalissimo Pillsbury should prove as "formidable" as when he figured in the Kingfield Draft Riots, it might require one constable with a pair of stout "brogans" to properly dispose of him. As usual Pillsbury wants to get his dupes into trouble, while he will take care to keep out of danger

Iowa.

The official returns in Iowa give John H Gear, Republican, for Governor 187,571; for H H. Trimble, Democrat, 85 057, for Daniel Campbell, Greenbacker, 45,420, for the Rev. Dungan, Prohibitionist, 3,208. This makes the total vote of the State last 291 315. Governor Gear's majority over Trimble is 72,495, over Daniel Campbell, Greenbacker, 111 454, and his majority over all is 23,808 Lieutenant Governor Campbell's vote is considerably larger than that cast for Governor and probably makes his majority in the neighborhood of 27 000.

By the death of Senator Chandler the Republican National Committee has lost its chairman and, and Hon R. C McCormick the Secretary, resigned some time ago when appointed Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. It is understood that the Committee will be convened before long for election of officers and other business

As the returns come in showing increased Republican majorities in New York, the Democrats set up the familiar cry of fraud They claimed the election of all their ticket but Governor when not more than fifteen per cent of the votes had been heard from. Every return since then has increased the Republican victory, and it now looks as if the whole Republican ticket has been elected. Hence the Democratic wailing

W. S. Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan, the author and musical composer of "Pinafore" were dined by the Lotos Club in New York Saturday evening.

Gen. Thomas Browne, Congressman from Indiana, pronounces in favor of Blaine for the Republican candidate in 1880 "Blaine," says Mr. Browne "is a great leader—the strongest one in the country to-day. He possesses the magnetism of a Clay, and under his leadership the campaign of 1876 would pale into insignificance" Mr. Browne was a Bristow man in 1876.

The New York transactions for the week ending Nov. 1, were the largest ever reported for a like period since 1872. The amount of exchanges at New York, exclusive of those arising from stock transactions was about 52 per cent larger for the month of October 1879 than for the same month in 1878 The grand total of transactions at all places for the week was $1,101 000,000 against $653,000 000 for the same time last year

A legal document was shown to us a day or two ago upon which one of the Fusion officials in this county had made the following indorsement

A trew copy, atest

Debutie Sherif"

I. V. Smalley writes to the Boston Herald "Blaine is 40 000 votes stronger than Cornell in New York. I believe he is 40,000 stronger than Tilden. He or any other popular Republican can carry the State next year against the Great Defrauded"

The total Republican vote (official) in Colorado, in the recent election of a Supreme Court Judge, was 15,920, total Democratic and Greenback vote, 13,918. Beck, the Republican candidate, has a majority, over all opposition, of 2,972—a gain for the Republicans of about 1,500

We have a very distinct impression that the Boston Globe forgers will find their persistent lying about General James A Hall uncomfortable business before they get through. We make no charge for the hint

The Commercial last evening, in reply to the Kennebec Journal, declared its ignorance of the fact that the Boston Globe had published a forged letter upon Mr. Blaine If the Commercial will examine the Globe of last evening it will find at least the third repetition of that forgery, the pretended text of a letter having attached to it in the Globe the words "(signed) James G. Blaine." The fact that the Globe palters and equivocates about the character of the pretended letter, does not blind anybody to the plain fact that in continuously printing a bogus letter with Mr Blaine's name, its purpose is simply to mislead casual readers The course of the Globe in printing forged letters attributed to Governor Long and Mr. Blaine, is infamous and the Commercial knows it.

In the State of Maine and in the city of Portland, the paper which assumes to be the "leading" exponent of Democratic sentiment, is unable to qualify its ruffianism even in the presence of the grave. We would like to know how many respectable Democrats were ashamed of this brutal paragraph in the Portland Argus.

THE BANGOR WHIG and other stalwart songsters continue to sing sorrowful dirges over the loss of poor Zach. And why shouldn't they? Among the whole list of radical thieves we can't recall one who is bold enough and bad enough to steal the Presidency in 1880, and it would therefore seem that the loss of old Zach is almost irreparable. With New York sure for the Democratic candidate and no radical "statesman" left who is bold enough to steal the electoral vote of three or four States, the outlook for the Republicans next year certainly calls for a few tears.

The Democratic party resembles the earth—it is a little flattened at the polls —Syracuse Herald.

A wounded man sitting up in bed and taking medicines from a teaspoon, while he grasps a revolver in each hand to guard against surprise and assassination—this is the grotesque attitude in which visitors now find Shepherd, who last week killed his brother-outlaw and desperado, Jesse James, in Missouri. Shepherd was about as notorious a scoundrel as James, having robbed several banks with him and killed his man. He slew his comrade in the name of law, and will probably have the doubtful credit of it, but it is not surprising that he keeps a lookout for the next avenger.

The Chicago Times (Dem.) heads its election news Havoc—A Dynamite Explosion among the Democracy of Half a Dozen States—Scarcely a Fragement to be Found of Cipher Sum of Gramercy Park.

GENERAL GRANT'S POSITION. The Boston Journal quotes from John Russell Young's report of an interview between Gen. Grant and the Chinese Viceroy, Li Hung Chang, the subjoined allusion to his Presidential aspirations, which is how a popular topic of conversation

The Viceroy said, with a smile, that he had received much pleasure from the kind words spoken by the General about China, and he hoped they would not be forgotten when the General became President again Of course the General would be President again, and the Viceroy hoped this would be, and that when President, the General would remember him and write to him

General Grant Your Excellency is very kind, but there could be no wish more distasteful to me than that you express. I have held the office of President as long as it has ever been held by any man. There are others who have risen to great distinction at home, and who have earned the honor, who are worthy, and to them it belongs—not to me. I have no claims to the office. It is a place distasteful to me, a place of hardships and responsibilities When I was a younger man those hardships were severe and never agreeable They would be worse now

The Viceroy But you are a young man and your experience would be of value

General Grant No man who knows what the Presidency imposes would care to occupy it for a third time in the office. I have had my share of it; have had all the honors that can be or should be given to any citizen, and there are many able and distinguished men who have earned the office No one of them more should be given

THE ICEBERG

The Arizona's Dangerous Collision

NEW YORK Nov 10 Mr O Kelley a correspondent of the New York Herald who was a passenger on the steamer Arizona which collided with an iceberg at 10 minutes past nine Friday evening, says the passengers were listening to a song from one of the ladies, when suddenly a terrific crash came throwing half of the occupants of the saloon sprawling on the floor Terror was depicted in many faces, but the only cry heard was from the officers on deck Steady, gentlemen, steady Keep cool

The night though overcast, was not dark The ship was going at the highest speed when she plunged head into a mountain of ice She recoiled, but again advanced and struck the iceberg, but with diminished force The first blow stove in her bows Tons of ice fell upon deck or were forced into the hole in her bow Full fifteen feet of iron work was broken and forced toward Groups of silent passengers gathered on the deck expecting every moment to be engulfed The iceberg extended some 500 feet across the bow and three pinnacles towered 60 to 70 feet in the air, threatening to topple over the ship

Capt Jones who had gone below a few minutes before, rushed on deck and gave orders to back the engines and in a few moments we got clear of the danger Examination of the forehold showed the Arizona to be water tight This tranquilized the passengers and they gradually returned to the saloon At the moment of the collision several of the crew were in their bunks, but all were rescued, three of them being in a bruised and bloody condition Two passengers in the cabin were also wounded Miss Dodde of Scotland, sustained severe internal injuries, and Mr Carr had his knee badly hurt

After the return to the saloon at the suggestion of Rev J M Ross all knelt and joined in a prayer of thanksgiving, after which they sung the hymn, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow" with impressive earnestness The cause of the disaster is said to have been the neglect of the sailors on the lookout who admitted that they were not at their posts Fortunately the weather continued calm and the sea smooth, thus enabling the Arizona safely to reach St Johns, N F, Sunday morning The rescued passengers hastened to various churches to give God thanks for their wonderful deliverance. A month will be required to repair the damaged vessel

The recent Nova Scotia hurricane was sweeping near the place. To keep vessels out of storms it is necessary to show signals outside their track. SUICIDE IN BROOKS Morrison Johnson, of Brooks committed suicide by hanging last Sunday. He was about seventy years of age, had lived alone for several years and has been in poor health all the past season His daughter, who is married and lives near, called in to see him in the morning, got him some breakfast and swept up his room. He gave her some money and told her to take care of it. Late in the day her husband called to see him, and when he came home sent his son, a boy of fifteen, to see his grandfather. The old man drove the boy away, however, and told him to come over in the afternoon.—An hour later he was found hanging in the barn. He had evidently committed the deed with the greatest deliberation. He took off his cap, scarf, frock and vest, and left them in the walk; and then standing on a box he slipped the rope over his head and kicked the box out from under him. When found his feet rested fairly on the floor. There were no symptoms of derangement, and he was evidently tired of life and took this way to end it.

ALMOST A TRAGEDY Mr Augustus Townsend says, Mr Lewis P Henderson of this city was found on Friday evening last in the cellar of the engine house on the corner of Winthrop and Water streets, in a bloody and alarmingly exhausted condition Mr Eben Hovey went into the engine house at about five o'clock on Friday afternoon, and observing marks of blood in considerable quantities about the walls and floor proceeded to investigate the cause He found blood near the foot of the stairs leading to the hall on the second floor and in other localities about the premises He also observed that the scuttle leading to the cellar was open, and on proceeding down the steps he found Mr Henderson helpless and unconscious upon the floor of the cellar where he had probably remained during the day and perhaps part of the previous night It is supposed that he fell down the stairs leading from the hall, cutting his head badly and after remaining for some time, bleeding profusely, he proceeded to the cellar where he was found as above stated It was a mere accident that Mr Hovey entered the engine house that evening and there can be no doubt that his discovery of the condition of Mr Henderson saved him from an untimely and distressing death as he probably could not have survived another night in his weak and chilled condition A physician was immediately summoned and the unfortunate man properly cared for We learn that there is a fair prospect of his recovery, and we trust this severe experience may not pass unheeded

Capture of a Note Swindler

The Portland Press says that Tuesday Mrs Royal St Clair was arrested in Portland, on a charge of attempting to pass a forged note When she was arrested there were found on her person three notes, all purporting to have been made by E M Fogg and G M Fogg, Deering, and signed by them One was for $35 one for $37 and the third for $2o On one of the notes were several indorsements of sums paid on the notes, and it is claimed by Mrs St Clair that they are all genuine notes At the time she was arrested Mrs St Clair was trying to negotiate a note for $200 signed by Charles F Bunker, Franklin agreeing to pay the above amount six months after date with interest, in any bank in Maine. The note was drawn on a piece of common white paper, was ill spelled and badly written The signature a note shaver in town ascertained was genuine, and he was about to advance Mrs St Clair $50 on it when she was invited to the police station The arrest was kept quiet and on Saturday Mr St Clair came to town and was arrested, too

St Clair claims to be agent for B Butler & Co, in whose favor the Bunker note is drawn, who deal in patent rights at St Johnsbury, Vt, their principal articles are a patent harrow and a dish-pan The parties acting as their agents dispose of the right to make the goods for sale, and in return take purchasers' notes for what they can get Marshal Bridges learns that St Clair has been operating for some time in Houlton, Bangor, Eastport and other places, with quarters at Kenduskeag

This St Clair, it is stated, formerly was in the grocery business in Portland, but failed, then came to Lewiston, where he also failed. Notes were found on his person to the amount of $2,000, as follows Gilbert Jordan Franklin, $500, John M. Burnham, Biddeford, $250, S. T Thompson & Son, Bangor, $200, Sumner G Rowe, Ellsworth, $150, L T. Hamilton, Calais, $150; Lester Barrett, West Charleston, Vt., $200, a second note from the same, $1,000, Wendell Silsby, Amherst, Me., $150; white Brothers, Bridgewater. $900. These notes are written like the Bunker notes, on different scraps of paper, but it is thought the signatures are genuine, obtained in the "lightning saw, swindle" way. The only difference between the above notes and the Bunker note is that the latter reads "pay E. Butler & Co," and the others, "pay R. St. Clair," Mr. Bunker telegraphs that he has never given his name to any such paper as that mentioned.

THE BRADLEY MURDER.

SOME ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.

THE PRISONER ARRAIGNED.

ALL DOUBT AS TO HIS GUILT REMOVED.

The Frenchman who was arrested on suspicion of having murdered Mr Norris Friday night was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday on a charge of willful murder He was arraigned under the name of Joseph Boldue The court room was packed with people who were anxious to get a look at the perpetrator of this foul murder

The officers state that the prisoner did not seem so defiant in the court room as he did when he was first arrested and that his face was quite pale and he did not seem inclined to look any one in the eye He pleaded not guilty and his case was continued until ten o'clock Thursday morning When asked if he wished to secure counsel he replied that he wanted Lewis Barker, Esq, to defend him Mr Barker was sent for and soon came into court but we understand that he has declined to have anything to do with the case

Boldue admits that the evidence against him is very strong and thinks he may be convicted but he still persists in asserting his innocence He claims that the money and wallet found on his person belong to him but he can't explain how the announcement of Mr Charles Norris marriage came in it The plan of the town of Bradley he claims to have found at the boarding house

The Coroner's Jury was in session at Bradley yesterday and after hearing considerable evidence it adjourned until Saturday Among the witnesses examined yesterday were Marshal Reed and Officer Wentworth who had some of the articles found on the prisoner with them so that the jury could examine them In addition to the wallet which was identified by several parties on Sunday they have been able to identify the pocket rule and knife as the property of Mr Norris This settles beyond a doubt the question of Boldue's guilt, and the officers are now inclined to think that he committed the murder alone but may have a friend who has taken charge of some of the money for him.

It is now thought that the murderer did not get over $471 in all When it was first found that he had opened the safe and taken the contents of the money drawer it was supposed that the town hall some funds there but an examination of the books shows that at the time of the murder the town was owing Mr Norris It seems that they had just settled with their school teachers and had been paying out money in various ways so that Mr Norris had used all the funds on hand before this terrible affair took place One young man named Spencer deposited seven hundred dollars, back pension with Mr Norris some time since but had taken out various sums at different times until a balance of two hundred dollars was left which he received on Thursday When Mr Norris settled with one of the teachers he offered to pay him in gold but as the teacher took paper money in lieu it is thought that a part on of the money stolen from the safe must have been in gold

A physician from the city was taken up to Bradley yesterday to make an examination of the wounds on the murdered man While our reporter visited the place Saturday it was generally thought that the wound on the back of the head was made by a sharp instrument like a pick but after the examination the physician state that an axe was the only weapon used The wound in question probably made by the first blow as the murderer sprang from his place of concealment was done with the corner of the poll of the axe The officers think that after receiving this blow the victim placed his hand to the back of his head and then as he fell clutched at his cabinet which would account for the blood on the back of Boldue's coat

In examining the prisoners trunks again yesterday a photograph of a female some twenty five years old was found among his things It was taken in Orono

Marshal Reed brought the axe down from Bradley last night It had considerable blood upon it and the marks of the butt where it struck the blow that made the murderer struck the blow that made the gash in the throat were very plain Marshal Reed is devoting a great deal attention to the details of the case and if other parties were engaged in the affair they will be brought to justice The men arrested in Lewiston have been discharged

We understand that the funeral of the late Mr Norris will occur Wednesday and that some of his sons will be present

NEW PUBLICATIONS

CASTLE FOAM OR THE HEIR OF MELERSCHAUM This is a Russian story and the first novel from the pen of H W Herford whose labor in the field of literature has been heretofore devoted to matters of fact but his abilities as a writer shown in this our work exceed his former productions, and extra ily give promise of a successful career in the new line he has assumed The story is one of Russian life at the beginning of the present century in the days when Paul the Reckless ended his gloomy reign and when Alexander succeeded to the throne days marked by anarchy and bloodshed when every man's hand was against his neighbor when the military tyranny synonymous with Russian government was at the height of its glory, and when villainy was rife in every walk of life from the serf to the priest, from the reckless noble to the Emperor himself

The power of the author in handling his material is well shown in the excellent novel which he has made from it The characters are drawn with a bold but artistic skill that gives them an exquisite finish that places them in such vivid contrast as to endow them with a personality beyond the common novel of the day The scene pictures with which the book abounds are rare specimens of pen painting which give to the story an elegance and interest hardly less than the human struggles depicted The book will undoubtedly be a popular one, and it is certainly deserving of it. All who read it will unite in pronouncing it a work showing great strength and giving promise of stronger work yet Published by Lee & Shepard, Boston, and for sale at Chas Hight's Price $1 50

Their great merit lies in the fact that they are the only plasters which relieve pain at once.

Every one suffering from Rheumatism, Lame Back, or Weak Back, Cold on the Chest, Coughs, or any local pain or ache, should use Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and be relieved at once. Price 25 cts. Sold by all Druggists. 1m WAS&w oct27

The World's Child-Magazine.

John Greenleaf Whittier, the most child hearted as he is among the foremost of American Authors, writes of ST. NICHOLAS: "It is little to say of this magazine that it is the best child's periodical in the world." Prof. Proctor, the astronomer, wrote from London: "What a wonderful magazine it is for young folks, and ours are quite as much delighted with it as American children can be!" That it is calculated to delight the little folk everywhere is indicated by the fact that it is to be issued in French by Delagrave of Paris and that even the far away little Moslems are now to have a volume made up of translations from ST. NICHOLAS into Arabic by the Rev. H. H. Jessup.

Beginning with the November number (ready Oct. 25th) the magazine is to be printed on heavier paper with wider margins, and is to be so much enlarged that the new volume will contain nearly two hundred more pages than any former volume, while the price will remain the same. The publishers announce many brilliant novelties, including a new serial by Miss Louisa M. Alcott, entitled "Jack and Jill," "The Treasure Box of English Literature," in which will be given gems from standard English and American authors, an Acting-Play for Sunday Schools, by Rev. Edward Eggleston, which will be printed in time for the holidays, with full directions for its representation in school exhibitions, and a beautiful Fairy Operetta for children entitled "The Sleeping Beauty in the Wood."

The November number has two beautiful frontispieces and a red-line title-page, and contains over sixty illustrations. In it, begins a new serial story for boys, "AMONG THE LAKES," by the author of "Dab Kinzer."

Another splendid serial for boys has been secured for this volume,—"The Fairport Nine," a story of a base ball club, by NOAH BROOKS. In short, ST. NICHOLAS, which has no rival on either continent, is to be better than ever.

A superb Christmas number is in preparation, to appear early in December. Subscriptions should begin with November. Buy it of your book-seller, or send the subscription price to the publishers. Price, $3.00 a year; 25 cents a number.

SCRIBNER & CO.,
743 Broadway, New York.

An "Agricultural Number" of SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

In addition to the usual variety in the contents of SCRIBNER, the November issue contains a half dozen papers of the highest interest to farmers, and others interested in rural life: "The Agricultural Distress in Great Britain," by P. T. Quinn; "Farming in Kansas," by Henry King; "Success with Small Fruits," by E. P. Roe; "Rare Lawn Trees," by Samuel Parsons, Jr.; "The Mississippi Jetties," and their effect on the prices of agricultural products, and "How Animals Get Home," by Ernest Ingersoll.

There are two fine portraits of Bayard Taylor—one engraved by Cole, from the best photograph, and the other a reproduction by Juengling, of O'Donovan's bronze bass-relief. These portraits accompany a discriminating critique of Taylor, by Stedman. Clarence Cook has a paper on "Morris Moore's Old Masters," with a reproduction, by Cole, of Raphael's "Apollo and Marsyas." There are Poems, Stories and Sketches; "The French Quarter of New York;" "Extracts from the Journal of Henry J. Raymond," with interesting reminiscences of Daniel Webster; a beautiful story, by Boyesen; an ingenious story, "A Sigh," the fourth part of "Confidence," by Henry James, Jr., begun in August; and the first part of a new American novel of Creole life, "The Grandissimes," by Geo. W. Cable, of New Orleans, the author of "Old Creole Days," which has created such an excellent impression in the literary world. "The reign of Peter the Great," by Eugene Schuyler, is noted editorially. This splendid series of Illustrated Historical Papers, the greatest work of the sort yet undertaken by any popular magazine, will begin in the January issue, and will continue for two years.

All that enterprise and skill can do will be done to maintain the position of SCRIBNER as the leading popular periodical of America. With the revival of the agricultural and business interests of the country, increased attention will be paid to papers on great public enterprises and interests, already a notable feature of the magazine.

Price, $4.00 a year; 35 cents a number. Subscriptions should begin with the November number. Buy it of your bookseller or send the subscription price to the publishers.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $23.2 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes

cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.
